Facebook, Twitter & More

Insurance adjusters and defense attorneys will investigate your Facebook, Twitter and related social media accounts, blogs or web pages — even when set as 'private' — and look for things that can help them avoid taking full responsibility for the harms they've caused. The purpose of this Internet research is to attempt to show that you are not as injured as you claim. Please be very careful about postings and photos of your activities. Avoid posting new items.
