Why You May Need Legal Representation For Injury Claims

Individuals who have been in an automobile accident are allowed to seek monetary compensation for their bodily injuries and damage to property.

Insurance companies hope that you don't get an attorney so they can settle with paying you less than you deserve. That is how they stay in business and make large profits at your expense. Your attorney can help determine what you will financially lose by being injured and how much your total medical expenses caused by the accident may be. That is the only way you can truly be compensated in a fair manner for the negligence that caused the accident.

Is State Farm One Of The Worst?

"Like A Good Neighbor, State Farm Is There!" This slogan may not be exactly true for auto accident victims in which the at-fault party has State Farm Insurance. The American Association for Justice (AAJ) recently ranked State Farm the fourth worst insurance company in America. It got this ranking by denying and delaying claims, defending lawsuits it should not have, and paying claims for less than they were worth.

What does this mean for you? This means that if you have been involved in an automobile accident and have a claim with State Farm, there is a chance they could deny your claim or pay you less than your claim is worth. This could have disastrous effects on you and your family if you are forced to pay for damages out of your own pocket.

Is Allstate The Worst?

"You're In Good Hands That's Allstate's Stand!" Well, this slogan does not seem to hold true for the auto accident victim(s). According to The American Association For Justice (AAJ), Allstate recently ranked as the worst insurance company in America. It got this #1 ranking by consistently putting profits over their policyholders, denying, delaying, and fighting legitimate claims, and giving huge salaries to its employees.

Is GEICO One Of The Worst?

GEICO actually used to be one of the best companies in terms of customer satisfaction and paying fair settlements. In recent years, Geico has grown thanks to a very smart ad campaign. As a result they have become increasingly concerned about profit margins and therefore have resorted to some of the same tactics of the very large insurance companies. Geico has been known to offer very low settlements for injury claims, often leading to a lawsuit.
